Aboriginal Culture in Mississauga, Ontario

Today when the words Mississauga, ON are mentioned images of places like "Square One Shopping Center" come to mind. It is our hope the The Mississauga Heritage Foundation can give you a window into the past as they review 200 years of Aboriginal Culture in none other than Mississauga, ON Looking behind I am filled with gratitude.

Looking forward I am filled with vision.
Looking upward I am filled with strength.
Looking within I discover peace.

Hunting: My Heritage

Hunting has been a big part of my life, in the capacity of a passion and hobby. Because Metis were mobile, they depended on the land for many things. Harvesting moose, deer, turkeys, bear, buffalo and many other animals for their pelts, bones and meat was a crucial component of Metis life. Not only were wild game animals used as a food source, but also for trading purposes. For me, hunting is a way of admiring the outdoors, paying respect to my ancestors and continuing my heritage as a Metis.

I sincerely want to thank everyone at the OMFRC for all their help. This is a gift to our family from my mother. She died 58 years ago and she had nothing to leave us but her heritage. I was only 13 years old when she died. We have tried for 30 years to get this matter resolved. Now with your help we are reaching a conclusion.
